

I just found this NPR review on the University of Illinois, Springfield, through which I am studying philosophy online. I am in my fourth year of study. UIS has a very good program; the standards are high, and the profs know their material. I would highly recommend it for someone looking for online study in analytic philosophy.

<http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=16638700>

Share this page: